This cottage is designed for a couple with a young son and will serve as a center-point for the gatherings of a greatly extended family and will one day become the family's primary residence. The challenge was to implement an architectural strategy that breaks down very large programmatic requirements and, as a result, the seeming bigness of the proposed home. The spatial system therefore is conceived as a porous and open ground-floor that supports a solid, "private" volume above. All of the primary living and communal functions, such as the indoor and outdoor living rooms, kitchen, eating area, and sauna open either literally or volumetrically to the surrounding lakeshore.

本案是为一个三口之家设计的住宅，旨在打造一个家庭聚会中心，并期望有一天能成为家庭的主要居所。本案设计难点在于要有效地实施一种建筑策略，使之能够破除大型项目的规范，最终使住宅小巧而温馨。住宅的空间系统因此被设计为一种带孔的开阔的平面，支撑上面坚实的私人体量。所有的起居和公共功能，如室内和室外起居室、厨房、餐厅、桑拿间，都或多或少地沿着湖岸排布。
